

AnxietyGone

Guaranteed anxiety relief in under a minute

Nearly 1 in 5 UK citizens have reported suffering from an anxiety disorder. The most commonly prescribed medicinal treatments include antidepressants and benzodiazepines.

Antidepressants take at least 2 weeks to kick in. In contrast, benzodiazepines are highly addictive, and ideally should not be taken for more than 2 weeks.

Enter AnxietyGone, the revolutionary inhaler that can grant you near-instant anxiety relief

This is why, after 17 years and more than £1.3 million spent in investment capital, we're proud to announce that the Emobrium lab team achieved a major technological breakthrough in late 2017, with the synthesis of an all-natural compound that has proved highly effective in the research phase, yielding unprecedented results:

When delivered through the lungs, AnxietyGone achieved a groundbreaking near-instant anxiety-relieving effect (in under 60 seconds). By comparison, according to Dr. Mark Pollack, Director at the Center for Anxiety, with benzodiazepines, the standard treatment class of drugs for anxiety relief, onset tends to occur within "hours to days".

What makes AnxietyGone so effective?

AnxietyGone was designed as a disposable inhaler, because absorbing a compound through the lungs ensures rapid and effective delivery compared to oral ingestion, which requires at least 60x longer to work, and has a much lower efficacy.

Our introductory offer

Give yourself or a cared one the gift of anxiety relief in 2018.

Sign up for a limited introductory offer

Once you experience the significant improvements to your daily life, we're confident you'll want a monthly or yearly subscription plan.

So if you sign up for the yearly plan, you'll receive 1 month ABSOLUTELY FREE.

Money-Back Guarantee

If AnxietyGone isn't the fastest-acting anxiety relief you've ever experienced, then send it back for a FULL refund* (*valid until the current week used).

“Unprecedented” Trial Results

The preliminary trials with our test groups revealed the following unexpected benefits:

Patients diagnosed with medium to light anxiety found instant anxiety relief (in under a minute), with a significant (perceived) anxiety reduction between 75% and 90% (based on a Likert-type patient scoring scale).

Those categorised with severe anxiety indicated that the sensation of relief typically lasted 1 to 2 hours before they expressed wanting a subsequent dose. In contrast, those classed with light anxiety experienced relief for 2 to 5 hours in general.

AnxietyGone Cares, and It Shows

Every AnxietyGone vile containing the proprietary synthesised liquid is packaged within 1 day of your order and routed to you via protective shipping worldwide. Every package is accompanied with a certificate of authenticity indicating the batch number, the best-before date, and correct storage instructions for long-term safekeeping.

For less than £3 a day, you too can enjoy an anxiety-free day every day. And you can save big with a subscription plan.

So try it today for a happier tomorrow.

Yes, I'd like to try guaranteed anxiety relief

FAQ

Is it safe?

Do not exceed the recommended dosage of the maximum of 5 deep inhales every 15 minutes.

Is this a cure for my anxiety?

Whilst we have witnessed dramatic improvements in our tests, AnxietyGone is not intended to be a cure. Do not cease any current medication, and consult your general practitioner (GP) if concerned about use.

Does this product contain nicotine?

AnxietyGone contains no nicotine whatsoever. The inhaler contains ZERO adulterants. It is a laboratory-synthesised product containing entirely natural ingredients.

I've never used an inhaler or smoked before. Will this be an issue?

No. The tests were conducted with participants who had never used an inhaler or smoked before. Regardless, they all found the inhaler intuitive to use, and within a few minutes, they indicated they were confident using the vial on their own.